

The PHENOMENON of "MEN"

• An evening of conversation and exploration • Vancouver •

WHERE ? Round House Community centre near Yaletown-Roundhouse SkyTrain Station
WHEN ? Thursday, March 20, 6:30 PM Sharp to 9:55 PM

What do YOU hunger for in men and if you are a man what is it that you yearn for? What has been your experience of relating with men? What do you adore and what do you TOLERATE? More importantly, both men and women, what do you want most from them and for them?

Please join Sue Jordon and Barry Samson and a cast of courageous men and women who will be seeking answers to these questions in an evening of edge and exploration. Please note this evening is open to both men and women and will include stories and presentations, from both, in an attempt to capture and render the very qualities and experiences we hunger for in the men we want or want to be.

We will hear from two sons discussing their relationships with their father with feedback from their father. We will hear from women of different ages about what they have experienced and still hope to experience in the various male relationships within their lives and their successes and failures in finding it. Last but not least we will hear from men themselves about their stories, experiences and desires.

Ours will be an evening without experts or gurus. These will be remarkable conversations! We want you to come and we want you to share. In the event that time runs short please send us your powerful questions and experiences ahead of time so that we have the best opportunity to see that they are included.

Priority seating to those who reserve and show up on time. Please confirm to Barry or Sue at the contact information below, indicating how many will be attending. Note, there is no cost to attend; your contribution is most appreciated in the form of attending and contribution to the discussions!

Please share this with anyone you know who may be interested in this evening.
